Edinboro, PA 16412

Dear Mrs. Shreve:

As you join your family and friends in celebration of your 100th birthday, please accept my congratulations and best wishes for a year filled with great moments!

The occasion of the anniversary of your birth is an ideal time each year to reflect on the accomplishments you have made during your lifetime. It is sometimes filled with reminiscence and sentimentality about years past. Perhaps, more importantly, your birthday presents you with new challenges, opportunities and goals. Birthdays definitely have the potential for optimism, regardless of the number of candles on the cake!

Most of us, I believe, have fond memories of certain years in our lives. Whatever the age, what seems to matter most are the people with whom we've shared those memories and the experience and wisdom we've gained with each passing year. Whether turning six, sixteen or sixty, we should all greet our birthdays wholeheartedly and welcome a new age!

And so, Mrs. Shreve, I send you not only my personal wishes for a happy birthday today, but my sincere hope that the celebration and good spirit you enjoy today will continue through the rest of your life.

Sincerely,

Thomas J. Scrimenti

Dear Mr. Brown:

Among the most rewarding aspects of my career in public service are those moments when I read or hear of the successes and accomplishments of others. It is always a pleasure to extend my personal congratulations and good wishes and I am especially grateful for the opportunity to commend you for being selected Business Officer of the Year by the Greenfield Township Volunteer Fire Department.

As state representative to the 4th Legislative District, I have had the pleasure of meeting people from all walks of life. There are so many talented individuals from this area who are willing and eager to share their knowledge and experience for common good. I consider myself fortunate to have been associated in one way or another with many of those people. Your most recent recognition has not only placed you in high esteem among your peers; it has proven you have what it takes to be successful.

You should be very proud of your accomplishment and you deserve to take some time to bask in the glory! As you reflect upon your achievements, however, don't lose sight of the future and what it may hold for you. Somehow, I know that you are destined to continue on your upward path.

As a lifetime resident and public servant of this area, I am proud to be associated with winners like you! Keep up the good work!

Unfortunately, I regret that I am unable to present the citation to you personally, however, my heartfelt congratulations are with you.
